General provisions

4. The Depository undertakes to protect the Source Code according to the provisions below. The Depository's undertaking does not in any respect include the regulation or controlling of the rights to or the use of the Source Code, which issues are to be fully and separately settled by the Depositor and the Co-Depositor.

5. The Source Codes of computer programs are to be received for deposit in immediately readable form or electronically transferred to a diskette, cassette, CD or similar data storage medium.

6. The Depository undertakes to ensure that the Source Code is stored in a satisfactorily safe manner.

7. The Depositor shall ensure that the Source Code, at the time it is deposited with the Depository, is packed in a sealed package that protects its contents from light, moisture and minor jolts. Unless otherwise agreed, the size of the package may not exceed the following dimensions: 40 cm (width) x 40 cm (height) x 15 cm (depth).

8. It is the duty of the Depositor to ensure that the Co-Depositor approves the deposit, in writing, at the time the Source Code is deposited.

11. An application for the release of a Source Code must be in writing. The Co-depositor shall indicate the circumstances upon which the application is based.

The application is to be forwarded to the Depositor for possible comments. Where the Depositor fails to reply within due time, the Depository shall always have the right to release the Source Code to the Co-Depositor.

12. In the event the Depositor wishes to change the deposited Source Code for another Source Code, the written consent of the Co-Depositor shall be required. 15. If the Depositor is overdue with payments, the Depository shall be entitled to add penalty interest corresponding to the applicable reference interest (Sw. "referensränta") fixed by the Bank of Sweden, plus eight (8) percent.

16. If the Depositor consists of more than one person or legal entity, they are all jointly and severally liable for the duty to pay the fee provided for in paragraph 13.

In the event of the loss of, or damage to, the Source Code due to fire, water or gas, or due to theft, through a break-in in the storage area, the Depository shall be responsible, unless it can demonstrate that it has taken all reasonable measures to prevent such a loss or damage.

Loss or damage that can otherwise result to the Depositor, the Co-Depositor or any other person shall be compensated by the Depository, only to the extent that the loss or damage was caused by negligence shown by the Depository.

In all cases, the responsibility of the Depository shall be limited to direct damage, amounting to a maximum of one base amount (Sw. "basbelopp") under the Swedish Act on Public Insurance (Sw. "lag om allmän försäkring").

The Depository shall not be responsible for damage or loss above and beyond what is stated above.

If a notice of termination is not received at least two (2) months prior to the end of the term of this agreement, the agreement shall be extended for successive one (1) year terms, subject to a two (2) month notice provision, at each instance.

Advance termination

19. In the event the deposit fee is not paid as provided, the deposit agreement shall terminate. The Depository shall so notify the Depositor and the Co-Depositor.

If the Depositor pays the fee within thirty (30) days from the termination of the agreement, the agreement will continue to apply, unless the Depositor has also failed to pay by the previous due date, or has failed to honour its obligation to pay the Depository, at least twice, during the past twelve months.

If the Co-Depositor pays the fee within thirty (30) days from the date the agreement is terminated, the agreement shall remain in force, as applicable.
